

School of Hotel Administration
SC Johnson College of Business
Cornell University
Tenure -Track Assistant Professor in Strategic Management

The Cornell SC Johnson College of Business at Cornell University invites applications from qualified individuals for a tenure track faculty position in Strategy at the assistant professor level, beginning July 2019. The position is in the School of Hotel Administration.

Job Description: The successful candidate is expected to: (i) establish a distinguished program of research, (ii) engage in teaching and advising in the undergraduate, masters, and Ph.D. levels, as well as (iii) provide service to the School, College and the University. The successful candidate is expected to develop a highly impactful program of research relevant to strategic management, organization studies and business issues, and to communicate results to academic peers through publications in top field and general management journals. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research builds on a solid theoretical foundation and utilizes rigorous empirical methods, and who wish to apply their expertise to advance our understanding within service-intensive business settings. We welcome individuals with specializations in several fields, including strategy, organization theory, innovation, international business and entrepreneurship.

Job Qualifications: A Ph.D. in strategic management or related field is required. Preferred candidates will demonstrate strong potential for high standards of accomplishment in strategy research, teaching, and service.

The School of Hotel Administration at Cornell University is the top-ranked hospitality management program worldwide, with undergraduate, masters, and Ph.D. programs. The School of Hotel Administration (SHA) has approximately 800 undergraduates and 60 graduate students. Founded in 1922, SHA is an AACSB accredited business school, with a resident faculty of 65 and over 10,000 alumni worldwide.
