

Tenured: Associate Professor

Texas A&M University: College of Agriculture and Life Sciences: Hospitality, Hotel Management and Tourism

Location

College Station, TX

Open Date

Oct 20, 2023

Description

The Department of Hospitality, Hotel Management and Tourism (<https://hmgt.tamu.edu/>) within the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Texas A&M University welcomes applications for two full-time tenured faculty positions at the rank of Associate Professor based on the College Station, Texas campus.

We are looking to appoint two mid-career scholars who will contribute to the research, teaching and service missions of the department. Applicants must have scholarly credentials commensurate with the rank of a Tenured Associate Professor at an R1 University, a PhD in a hospitality, and/or tourism related field and a strong record of publications and external funding. With a commitment to teaching excellence, the successful candidates will advance the department and students by balancing research skills, industry networking capabilities, and service to the department and profession. This is a full-time 9-month position with opportunities for summer appointment. The expected start date is Fall 2024.

The department rates high in global rankings of hospitality, tourism and recreation and has a long record of accomplishment in instruction, research, and public service. Our distinguished and multi-disciplinary faculty have authored hundreds of journal articles, books, and technical reports, and have provided intellectual leadership internationally in tourism and recreation sciences.

In responding to societal needs, we will continue our mission of generating and disseminating knowledge to increase understanding of relationships amongst people, environments, and the economy. The department is committed to advancing wellness and prosperity through positive experiences in sustainable environments. We provide a supportive research setting and strive to expand our interdisciplinary collaborations within and beyond Texas A&M University.

Texas A&M University is a tier one research university and we offer a competitive salary, benefits, and startup package. Favorable consideration will be given to applicants with a record of effective teaching, with the capacity to attract external-funding potential and to supervise graduate students. Candidates will maintain a research program and pursue external funding opportunities while teaching and mentoring students. This position will contribute to the growing research, scholarship, and outreach of the department.
